Northern Community & School Recreation Coordinator Program

Employee Performance Measurement

Many organizations have an established performance measurement practice for their employees of which they are encouraged to use for the CSRC position. It is generally recommended that the employer undergo this process with the CSRC position at least once annually. The NC&SRCP Salary Grid recommends an annual incremental step in pay each year, this pay increase should be superseded by a successful performance evaluation based on the job description. Prior to a formal evaluation meeting between the Supervisor and the CSRC, the Steering Committee should review the form and provide input based on their experience working with the CSRC to the Supervisor. The Supervisor can include this input in the formal review with the CSRC.

Note: The annual evaluation of the CSRC affirms the expectations of employment and the level to which the CSRC is achieving those expectations. If a genuine and effective relationship has been established between the CSRC, Supervisor and Steering Committee, there is generally no surprises that result from an evaluation meeting. Concerns and issues with respect to CSRC performance should be dealt with in a professional and timely manner, not collected for review once per year.

Strategies for Successful Performance Review

- 1. Ask the employee for a self-assessment
- 2. Invite participation and comments from the employee
- 3. Express appreciation for their contributions
- 4. Minimize criticism
- 5. Focus on behaviours, not people
- 6. Engage in problem solving approaches
- 7. Be supportive
- 8. Establish additional future goals
- 9. Follow up! Have a short and longer term plan for follow up
